

Mariposa Cal
Aug 26th 1891

My Dear Mr Watson

Your last contribution to American Botany kindly sent me was duly received and enjoyed for which accept my thanks. I see in it - my last new Minimus, but not the ~~two~~ sent you in '89 & again in '90. Have they been published yet?
If not and if the original specimens are not at hand, I can send you some new ones this fall when I shall have another small package to send you, among them another new Minimus, at least new to me. It may be in S. & Greene's list which I did not have but is not in the Botany & Cal. I also see ~~some~~ indications of still another between Mammis & Ferreyi which I hope to make clear another season

This is emphatically the native part of the genus. One reason why I have found so many is the exuberance of transitory blossoms & mass of them which makes it easy for them to escape the notice of the merely occasional explorer.
